THE RALEIGH NEWS.

VOL. XV.--141. RALEIGH, N. C., THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 14, 1879. $5.00 PER ANNUM

STEWART'S CORPSE.

AN OFFICER TO RETURN IT FOR $250,0000.

What a Lawyer tells the New York Police---Furnishing the Coffin-Plate for Corroboration.

NEW YORK, August 13.—It is now asserted positively that the family and friends of the late A. T. Stewart have been apprised of an offer made by parties who claim to be able to produce the body of the deceased millionaire and who have established the genuineness of their offer by sending the silver plate and handles of the burial casket to this city. It is stated that the parties claim to be in Montreal and have opened negotiations through a lawyer in this city, inclosing a fee of $350 for his services. They offer to produce the remains for $250,000. The lawyer laid the matter before the police superintendent, Walling, and deposited the plate and other articles forwarded to him at the police headquarters. Judge Hilton, however refuses, it is said, to accede to the demands of the parties. It is alleged that the remains are in an excellent state of preservation.

National Cotton Exchange.

NEW YORK, August 13.—The executive council of the National Cotton Exchange was in session from 10 until 12 o'clock to-day, preparing a programme for the present convention. The council consists of Messrs. John Phelps, William P. Campbell, J. H. McCann, W. A. Godwin, D. C. Stone, W. W. Gordon, W. L. Ireholm, W. D. Reynolds, J. F. Wheeler, W. M. Senter and S. L. Taylor. The convention assembled in the board's room at the Equitable Insurance Company's building at noon. Some delay occurred owing to the fact that the programme was not completed, and other details were not arranged. There were some seventy gentlemen present, many of whom were not delegates. The rumor that St. Louis would not send delegates to the convention is unfounded, and there were two representatives from that city.

It was nearly half-past twelve o'clock before John Phelps, of New Orleans, called the convention to order. Henry G. Hester, of New Orleans, acted as secretary. Mr. Phelps made a few remarks congratulating the gentlemen on their fourth convention, and hoped that their action would be as harmonious as at their previous conventions. The second article of our constitution declares that the object of our association "shall be to promote the efficiency and extend the usefulness of the local cotton exchanges of the United States, and to secure their united and harmonious action in considering the various questions affecting the agricultural, commercial and manufacturing interests of cotton, etc. While much has been done in accomplishing these objects, our labors are, as yet, far from being ended. The adoption of a uniform standard of classification and quoting of three grades of good ordinary, low middling, and middling the quotations furnished the Associated Press were important steps in this direction. In that of securing more comprehensive and reliable information in regard to the condition of the movement and the consumption of cotton. We have accomplished all that it was possible to do under the circumstances. Our monthly crop reports now command the attention of all engaged in the cotton trade and presents a reliable statement of the crops at the end of each month. Much improvement will be made in these reports as time and experience enable the various committees having this department in charge to perfect this work. The census of 1880 will give them reliable basis relative to acreage and production which is now badly needed. In establishing relations with representatives of cotton trade in Europe and elsewhere we can hardly say that we have done than taken preliminary steps yet. We must remember that old customs and usages are not so easily changed in old countries as in our own." (applause).

Mr. Hyde, President of Equitable Life Insurance Company who provided room for convention to meet all the markets of the world. The Memphis and Nashville Cotton Exchanges have ceased to be members of the National Cotton Exchange. The following are some of the subjects which will be discussed by the committee:

1. That some more uniform method of compiling monthly crop and acreage reports be adopted, and that each exchange binds itself to adhere to that method in every respect.
2. That measures be adopted to secure, at least biennially, information respecting the actual acreage under cultivation, and the product of cotton in each county and parish of the cotton States.
3. That the district allotted to each exchange be revised.
4. That the National Exchange take into consideration the advisability of having a weekly statement of the visible supply of cotton.
5. That the time of the meeting of the National Cotton Exchange be fixed on the third Wednesday of July.
6. That measures be taken to establish Central committee of arbitration for the settlement of claims arising in the course of transactions in cotton between the members of constituent exchanges.
7. That resolutions be adopted opposing tare upon cotton for side pieces.
8. That proper influence be brought to bear to induce the government to increase the appropriation for the signal service bureau to establish other stations in the cotton belt.
9. Excessive charges of the express companies for forwarding cotton samples between points in the United States.
10. The whole question of tare on cotton and to devise some means to adjust the same.

The reports of the committee on statistics and also of the committee on crop statements were presented. All reports were referred to a committee of nine on business.

A short recess was then taken to enable the business committee to report.

Keeping Down the Irish.

LONDON, August 13.—The Dublin Gazette announces that after August 14th, certain parishes in the counties of Derry and Tyrone will be placed under the peace preservation act.

The registrar-general of London announces that two fatal cases of cholera occurred in this city last week.

Crops on the Danube.

BUCHAREST, August 13.—The wheat crop on the lower Danube has been harvested and the yield is good. Prices will, however, be stiffened by the failure of the maize crop.

Colonizing Georgia.

NEW YORK, August 13.—H. L. Stuart, of New York, starts for Georgia to-day as a representative of the Co-operative Colony Aid Association, which proposes to plant its first colony in Georgia. The organ of the society is the Worker, published by Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, and it numbers many wealthy philanthropists.

Saratoga Races.

SARATOGA, August 13.—In the first race of three-quarters of a mile, Oriole won, Marron second, and Lady D'Arcy third; time, 1:17.

The second race, mile and three-quarters, was won by General Phillips, Mintzer second, and Clemmie G. third; time, 3:06½.

Quarantine Removed.

MOBILE, August 13.—Upon the recommendation of the Board of Health of Mobile county, notice is hereby given that, unless otherwise advised, all quarantine restrictions against the city of New Orleans will be removed on and after Friday, August 15, 1879.

(Signed) JESSE CARTER,
JOHN MAGUIRE,
Special Com. on Quarantine.

We are also informed that the Board of Police Commissioners of Mobile will take the same action at its meeting to-morrow.

The Pistol.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 13.—Jack Gleason, a street conductor, shot and killed William Kelker, at the National Park last night. Gleason, it is charged, some time since seduced a Miss Miles, the fact of which much has been said and it was regarding this matter that the men quarrelled with the above results.

California Politics.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 13.—Congressman Hendrick B. Wright, chairman of the labor committee, addressed an immense audience of working men at Union Hall last night on the labor and Chinese question advocating the expulsion of the Chinese by peaceful measures.

An Ocean Steamer Sunk.

LONDON, August 13.—The British steamer Corsica, Cardiff, for New York, came in collision with the steamer Semiramide of Boston for Liverpool, one hundred miles west of Fastret. The Semiramide sunk. Her crew was saved and landed at Queenstown. Both vessels are iron.

BOSTON, August 13.—A private dispatch from London says the British steamer Semiramide from Boston July 29th for Liverpool is a total loss. Her crew was saved. Vessel and cargo were probably insured in Europe.

From Memphis.

WASHINGTON, August 13.—A telegram to the National Board of Health from Memphis at 9:40 this morning reports 22 new cases of yellow fever and 5 deaths since yesterday morning.

LATER.

MEMPHIS, August 13.—Eight new cases of yellow fever were reported this morning, five of whom are colored, ten deaths from the fever have been reported by the undertakers since last night, James Schools, Miles Owen, Lillie Todd, Thomas L. Batman, Willie Dolan, Wilhelmina Ostenan, Florence Hopkins (colored), Emma Forbes, Maria English and Moses Lewis (colored). The three last names died beyond the city limits. Ed Moon was still alive at noon. He drank the juice of a watermelon this morning which had a favorable effect upon his kidneys. W. W. Guy rested well last night and his symptoms this morning were more favorable.

R. M. Young, presdent of the Board of Health and W. S. Reynolds, Mayor of Corinth, telegraphs that there is not a case of fever of any kind in Corinth. Hon. John Johnson, member of the State Board of Health and superintendent of quarantine in a telegram this morning to J. E. Plunkett, president of the State Board of Health says: "My resignation as a member of the State Board of Health of Tennessee and superintendent of quarantine at Memphis goes forward by the next mail and all official connection with said Board as a member thereof or as superintendent of quarantine ceases from this date. Reserving to myself the right at proper time to ask investigation and decision upon my acts by the State Board of Health."

LATE NEWS NOTES.

Samuel A Church, a well-known Hartford fish-dealer, was upset by a collision between his team and another and thrown out and killed Monday.

The premium asked by Toronto brokers on greenbacks is simply to cover expenses. One quarter of 1 per cent. is charged by them either for buying or selling greenbacks.

The Montreal banking scare has entirely disappeared and confidence has returned. The feeling on the Stock Exchange has vastly improved and stocks have advanced all round.

The body of a man supposed to be Herman Karr, of Blanford, Mass., was found in the river at Troy Monday. On him were found a bottle of whisky, a silver watch, a gold ring and 5 cents in money.

Frank Brennan, a Troy teamster, tried to quiet a disturbance, when an Englishman named James Garrett stabbed him in the groin with a chisel, severing the main artery. Brennan died in fifteen minutes.

Colonel John F. Mines, who had been missing from the Astor House for three weeks, was found yesterday by his friend, Excise Commissioner L. Heidell, of Utica, who had been searching for him in this city for several days. Mr. Heidell telegraphed the news to the Mayor of Utica and to Colonel Mines' wife. He said that Colonel Mines had been ill, but was in the care of an experienced physician, and hoped to returned home in a few days.

A Better Showing.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The official returns from the election last Monday make a better showing for the Democracy of Kentucky than first appearances indicated. It is evident that Blackburn's majority will exceed that given either Leslie or McCreary, and will probably run over 40,000. The Republicans have made some gains in the Legislature—three or four in the Senate and ten or twelve in the House—but there is left a Democratic majority on joint ballot of over one hundred, big enough for all practicable and impracticable purposes. The call for a constitutional convention is hopelessly defeated by ignorance and apathy. Taken altogether, Monday's was not a bad day's work for the Democracy of Kentucky.

The old turtle stories are growing very numerous. Mr. Slathers, of this city, has just caught one down by the river whose back was encrusted with old red sandstone, which revealed, when scraped off, the following inscription: "Shem, Ham, and Japhet, Mount Ararat, A. M. 1656." Don't give us any more of this sort of stories.—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

MR. TILDEN'S VIEWS.

HOW HE REGARDS THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

A Matter of Vital Importance that the Democracy Win the next Presidential Election.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Mr. Springer, a Democratic member of Congress from Illinois, recently spent a day with Mr. Tilden at the latter's residence in New York city. Mr. Springer reports that from Mr. Tilden's conversation he was not impressed with the idea that he (Tilden) was again moving for a nomination for the Presidency. Mr. Tilden told Mr. Springer that it was a matter of vital importance that the Democracy should win at the next Presidential election, for the reason that the country is now approaching to what promises to be a long era of prosperity, and if the Democracy can ride into power on this wave, to which it will have contributed so largely, it will remain in possession of the government for an indefinite period. On the other hand, should the Republicans retain power they are liable to hold on for a half a century to come.

Whichever party wins the next Presidency, Mr. Tilden says, will get the credit of bringing about the good times that are surely coming. With regard to the Ohio campaign, Mr. Springer reports Mr. Tilden as enthusiastically for Ewing, for the reason that Ewing's election will be the entering wedge to success in the great Presidential campaign of next year, which promises to be the most exciting known in political history. To this end the Democracy must not lose a single point. The question of candidates must be a secondary matter, and only one object sought after, namely, success. About the family quarrels among the Democracy of New York Mr. Tilden expressed no concern. He said they would be settled properly when the time for action came. There would have to be a compromise, which would undoubtedly bring forth ex-Congressman Clarkson N. Potter as the Democratic candidate for Governor of the State. Mr. Springer reports Mr. Tilden as in excellent health.

IT WOULD NEVER DO.

Commissioner Raum's Report not to be Published at Present.

Washington Post, 12th.

The Post, with desire a to give the public something more creditable than Raum's interested and partisan statement upon a matter of so much interest, sent a reporter to the revenue bureau to get the facts and figures upon which the letter to Sherman was based. Nothing but the Commissioners' report for the past fiscal year, or the reports of subordinates upon which it is made up, could furnish the material for a fair test of the letter; but the Post was not allowed to see that.

"It would never do," said one of the officials, "to exhibit the report on file." The Post inquired for Commissioner Raum, and was informed that he was absent from the city "taking a rest." The inquiring news-gather next sought Deputy Commissioner Rogers, and found him at the desk of his chief. "The Commissioner's report for the 1st fiscal year will not be made up before November," said the deputy, in reply to a question.

"The Commissioner," he continued, "will begin work upon it as soon as he returns." Could the Post examine the reports of the various collectors? "Oh no, certainly not. It wouldn't do to give any information as to the contents of those reports." "You see," the deputy went on, "the Commissioner's report is really a communication addressed to the Secretary, and it would be highly improper to permit anybody else to see any part of it until after it has been submitted to him. It wouldn't be proper either for us to give you any verbal information in regard to these matters; that wouldn't be treating other newspapers fairly. By keeping everything secret until the report is out, we give all the papers an equal chance at the information."

The Commissioner evidently does not intend that his official report, or any part thereof, shall become public until after the Ohio election; meantime, his letter can do service in that canvass in behalf of John Sherman without risk of any of its statements being refuted. Failing to obtain the slightest modicum of facts from the bureau, the Post fell back upon several official documents that were addressed to Congress by Commissioner Raum during the last fiscal year.

Gus Byers's Latest Feat.

Charlotte Observer, 13th.

Gus Byers, the notorious negro thief and house-robber, has just been detected in an effort to break jail. Byers is one the most successful thieves that ever infested this region, and by his boldness and shrewdness has eluded punishment for years. It was he who stole Col. Frank Coxe's harness, and having been taken to Richmond for the purpose of identifying certain thieves with whom he was connected there, escaped from policeman Farrington. He was re-captured, brought to the city over a month ago, and placed in close confinement in the county jail, one of the most secure in the State. It is a rule in the jail to allow two of the prisoners to come out of their cells each day and pump water into the reservoir on top of the building.

Byers, owing to his desperate character, has not been accorded this privilege heretofore, but having begged piteously for the privilege, Mr. Griffith, the jailor, finally relented. Byers and a feeble white man were allowed the privileges of the verandah. Mr. Griffith left the jail for a few hours, and during his absence a negro employed there discovered Byers making efforts to escape, Sheriff Alexander was at once called, and on arriving at the jail discovered that Byers had twisted off a piece of the iron railing which surrounds the balcony in front of the cells, and with this had begun to dig a hole in the brick wall, just under a window, the object being to remove the sill thereof and the iron bars. An hour more of hard work might have accomplished this. Byers may now rest assured that he will not be allowed to emerge from his cell again until he goes to the court house for trial.

Still They Come.

Asheville Semi-Weekly Journal.

Evidently there are now more people here hunting rest, health and pleasure, than have ever been here before at one time. They must all be taken care of, none should be allowed to be crowded out. Not knowing the place, if a man finds he is crowded out at the over filled hotels, he at once begins to think of that place of accommodation where he can go, when he can't go anywhere else—and just where he ought not to go with improper impressions of this skyland—that is home. Lifted away up toward Eternal City of the skies, ought we not to be, by reason of such contiguity, the most hospitable of mankind? Are not mountaineers usually so? Do they not always let the latch string hang out? There are little pinhook minds and second class reporters who sometimes malign and misrepresent us. Although we sometimes have bad, muddy roads, we have an atmosphere that dries them off quicker than any other; and though they are sometimes steep, they but lead to views the most pleasing and beautiful of any in the South. Our fellow citizens of other parts of the United States are fast finding out that the elements of attraction that belong only to mountain countries, are found here in the greatest variety and happiest combination. It is just being found out that we have the grandest country the sun looks down on. Then let it be known as well for the hospitality of the citizens, as for its beauty and grandeur, and ours will be called the beauteous high-lands of America.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

A New Brunswick Town Destroyed by a Tornado.

ST. JOHN, N. B., August 11.—The following further particulars of Wednesday's great tornado at Buctache were received here this afternoen. About 1 p. m. the sky was covered with dark, thick clouds, and heavy thunderclaps were heard in the distance. This presaged a tempest, but nobody expected such a terrific one, that plunged the people of North Bank in terror. Some thick clouds plowed the sky, and two especially, enormously large and black, approached each other, from opposite directions, and came in collision at Rich Cove, two miles above St. Mary's Church. The shock was terrible, and formed a water-spout, conical in shape, and of frightful size. Many of the inhabitants of South Bank witnessed the spectacle and say it emitted smoke, and fire and steam with tremendous noise. The cyclone, moving toward the east, traversed a small wood, uprooting everything in the course of its passage for a width of two acres. Every inhabited house of Dallair settlement was demolished totally. Pursuing its capricious course, the tornado swept another small wood, and fell upon the farm of Dallair Carnick, where it uprooted an enormous pine. It then enveloped the house and other buildings of Beloni Mennier, which it reduced to atoms, and Mennier and his family found themselves without shelter. After describing a circle toward the north, the water spout rushed upon a barn belonging to Rev. Mr. Oullet, a quarter of a mile behind the presbytery, which it demolished almost completely, leaving part of the gable-end standing. This zig-zag course saved St. Mary's church presbytery and their dependencies, which, by good fortune, escaped certain destruction. Advancing toward the east in a zig-zag and circular fashion, the water-spout came in the twinkling of an eye to Buctache church, where it wrought its last destruction on this side of the frith. After crossing the bay and shore it lost itself at sea. An extra gives a long list of the buildings, etc., destroyed, among which are Powell's tannery, crushed; the new Buctache school house, which with its furniture cost more than $1,200, was razed and swept off and its foundations disarranged. From this point the water-spout took to the river and lifted two large arches from the top of the big bridge to the south of the channel, and launched them a hundred paces below. Returning to the river the cyclone mounted the bank to strike the convent, the church and presbytery, and here the ruins are enormous and the destruction indescribable. Owing to the solidity of the convent the damage to it is but slight. A magnificent new barn near the convent was broken into pieces. The church steeple was razed on one side for many feet, and the church otherwise damaged considerably. Outside and inside the presbytery is merely a mass of ruins. The violence of the cyclone was tremendous. Houses were raised thirty feet and dashed to pieces. At St. Mary's church the trunks of trees, pales, pieces of wood and remains of demolished houses traversed the air with the rapidity of lightning. A large, heavy hay cart left in the rear of the barn at St. Mary, was transported a quarter of a mile. Mr. Michaud's carriage was smashed to atoms. The number of dead and wounded is wonderfully small considering the circumstances. The number of houses destroyed is over eighty, and the losses fully $100,000.

Double-Headed Snake.

New Berne Nut Shell, 12th.

One of our young townsmen, who is reliable, says he saw a double headed snake near Foster's wharf yesterday. The reptile was very pretty, striped from head to head with a horn on each head, and propelled itself along by placing one head firmly on the ground, stretching out the other to the full length of the body and then drawing up, by a contraction of the muscles, the rear head. Our friend states that the reptile was making good headway.

The Virginia State Debt.

The Virginia State conservative committee has addressed a letter to the voters of that party relative to the State debt. The address is throughout an earnest appeal against any measures looking toward repudiation. The committee says: "Such desperate policy will entail on Virginia fresh and afflicting losses in the value of all property, the prostration of all industries, and destroy all hope for a revival of her material welfare. It is certain that no sane man will bring his capital, thrift, or skill into Virginia when she proclaims herself bankrupt in means and character."

Bear Hunting.

New Berne Democrat.

Mr. W. H. Rawles, of Stonewall, set two shot guns on out-post duty last Friday night, and the result was, two dead thieves of the genus bruin were found in his corn field, where they had been depredating for some time. There is general complaint from all parts of the county, owing to the damages that have been done by the bears on all the swamp farms; the coons, not to be out done or behind hand in this matter, are also doing their full share.

The Duties of Treasury Clerks.

Washington Post.

Five clerks are detailed from the Treasury department to hunt up and contort figures for Republican orators. But when a Democratic Congressman wanted to see Corporal Davis' pension application the other day, he was denied it, and still later a Post reporter was refused the privilege of looking over the internal revenue figures, to see how Commissioner Raum gets up his reports. Democrats seem to have few rights beyond that of paying taxes.

The Bull That Butted the Man off the Bridge.

U. S. Circuit Court, Eastern District of Va., Judges Bond and Hughes presiding: The court doth order and Decree the said W. T. Blackwell & Co., have the sole exclusive right to the word Durham as a Trade-Mark. Done at Richmond, Va., January 18th, 1878.

THE KING OF CATFISH.

AN OHIO RIVER MONSTER OUT OF HIS ELEMENT.

A Meadow Picnic of the Catfish Tribe---The "Boss" Measures over 13 Feet in Length.

Cincinnati Commercial.

A curious fish story, from the Sunday Creek Valley, has just reached this place, and, though it comes apparently authenticated, seems almost too marvelous, not to say incredible, for belief. We give the story as it comes, as near as practicable, for what it is worth, on the same principle that courts of justice often receive testimony and let it go to the jury. It must be remembered that Sunday Creek is a small stream, but is at times almost if not quite as large as the Hocking River. At one place, for a distance of fifteen or twenty rods, the waters have scooped out a deep basin fifteen or twenty rods long, and in almost a straight line. Close on one side for all this distance there was an immense overhanging rock. This was formerly a favorite sporting and fishing place, and numerous large catfish were caught in the deep, long hole. In ordinary times the water here was from five to ten feet deep, and often deeper than this. But the great rock gradually began to be undermined by the action of the water, and it came to be considered dangerous to be on the rock above or in the water beneath, and the place was avoided by everybody. A day or two since was heard in the neighborhood, succeeded immediately by a loud splash and roar of water. Many persons rushed in the direction of the strange sounds and saw the mystery was no longer one. The giant rock had parted and rolled plumb into the creek, nearly filling the bed of the stream for many rods and forcing a large body of water out into a level field on the opposite side of the creek. Fences were swept away and considerable other damage done. But the water soon found its level, and the field was left almost as dry and waterless as it had been before the strange deluge. But it was soon observed that large numbers of fish had been thrown out on the dry land. The most of these were catfish, and unusually large. One was enormous, and towered head and shoulders, so to speak, above all the rest. He seemed to be a big whale.

A HEAVY DULL SOUND

THE CATFISH ALL JUMPED

and bounced around lively when the water receded, but the writhings and contortions of the monster were most fearful to behold. He would jump several feet into the air, and more than twice the length of himself on the ground. At other times he would lie perfectly still. At last, in one of his quiet moments, he was shot in the head like a beef, and this finished him. He measured thirteen feet and four inches, and weighed on the Sunday Creek coal scales 375 pounds. Several of the other fish weighed from fifty to eighty pounds each. This long, deep hole has for many years been left undisturbed, on account of its dangerous position, and the fish evidently came to the conclusion that there was the place to grow fat and big, and it must be admitted they got in their work well.

The Glover Report.

Philadelphia Times.

When the Glover report, or a full abstract of that voluminous document, first appeared in print, the Times, which published its leading features as a matter of news, took occasion to say that, although the organs might follow the example of both parties in Congress by attempting to suppress it, the attempt would be unavailing. The attempt was made, and, as predicted, it was unavailing. The people have learned the result of Glover's investigation through the journals which they read for news, and have been talking about it to such an extent, particularly in those States where elections are coming off soon, that political organs which suppressed it and contented themselves with abusing Glover as a "dead beat" and "a crazy man," now print column after column in denial of its charges. It is hard on the organs to have to take the back track in this way; but it is encouraging, nevertheless, for the subjects raked over by Glover have been kept in dark corners too long and should have all the light that can be thrown upon them by discussion. Glover was no unauthorized scavenger, doing dirty work merely for his gratification or profit. He was the chairman of a Congressional committee, carefully constituted and acting under orders in all that they did. The report was not his report alone, but that of this committee, and embodied its conclusions upon sworn testimony, ex parte no doubt in many cases, but of competent witnesses. The only trouble was that the committee was too zealous and too impartial. It found out a great deal too much and besmirched both parties, so both parties made common cause for its suppression. But for Glover's persistence—the persistence of a fanatic on this subject, if you please, but of a man whose honesty and ability as an investigator is unimpeached—the report would never have left the pigeon-hole to which it was consigned on the adjournment of the last Congress. Its developments are astounding, in part incredible, but in politics it is the astounding and incredible that is true. They come to us under the oaths of witnesses and under the oaths of Congressmen and they cannot be set aside by denials or abusive words. When Congress shall come together again the people will expect that these matters shall be thoroughly sifted. Meanwhile the leaven is working in the public mind.

Artificial Ice.

Boston Herald.

The manufacture of ice was properly considered a great inventive triumph, but a discovery has recently been made which leaves this far in the shade. This is nothing less than a system of refrigeration which involves the use of no ice at all. The system has been put into practical operation in Boston, and is already a great success. Ammonia is the chemical agent depended upon, and by its use the air in a large six story granite building is kept nearly down to the freezing point, even in the dog days. The building was first rendered as impervious as possible to outside atmospheric changes, and then intricate machinery was introduced by means of which the heat and gases are drawn off, condensed and purified and retained to do the work of refrigerating. The process goes on all the while, and the air is constantly changing, but the machinery is so nicely arranged that the temperature is kept at the uniform point of about forty degrees. A curious feature of the performance is that the absorption of the heat, gases and moisture constantly accumulates a great quantity of snow in the machine room every day, and the novel spectacle is presented of men shoveling up snow from the floor of a building outside of which the thermometer stands among the nineties, and spreading it out on the roof to melt in the midsummer sun. The building is kept nearly full of perishable provisions, a hundred thousand packages of butter, three hundred barrels of beef and thirty-five hundred dozens of eggs being among the present stock on hand, and the produce and commission houses which patronize it report that their goods are kept better than in vaults cooled by ice. Indeed the experiment has proved so successful that it is expected mammoth refrigerators of this sort will soon be introduced in all the large cities, and there seems to be no reason why the system could not be applied to ocean steamships, in which case meats and other perishable merchandise could be transported across the Atlantic more successfully than heretofore. There ought also to be a hint in this discovery for the application of a system of artificially cooling dwelling houses in the hot weather. There is a fortune here for some inventor.

STATE NEWS.

[Correspondence under this head is furnished by regular contributors to the News.]

ORANGE.

DURHAM, August 13.—The weather is fair and pleasant.

Ed, a very good colored man and a great favorite with the tobacco trade, who was employed at the Banner, died on last Saturday. "I am sorry," is expressed by every member of the trade.

The ladies will soon give a grand dramatic and musical entertainment, for the benefit of the Durham Light Infantry. We had a peep at the rehearsal, and it is good.

Mrs. C. B. Green, with little Freddy, who has been sick, is spending a few weeks in the mountains. We were glad to learn Freddy is much better. Mr. Green has much improved his paper, both in size and matter. W.

GUILFORD.

GREENSBORO, August 12.—Allow me space to speak of the reception given the delegates to the Grand Lodge of Good Templars on their way last night, by Greensboro lodge No. 7. A committee were in waiting with torches, at the depot, who escorted them to the Central Hotel, where a fine repast was spread for them, the brass band, the while, peeling forth its notes of music. After supper the line of march was again taken, led by the band, with torches, when, on reaching the depot, the State Grand Chief Templar, Williams, responded to the remarks of welcome by W. S. Ball. N. B. Broughton was called, and held up old No. 7 to the large audience assembled as the banner lodge in numbers and finances in the State, reciting the prohibitory influences by which we are here surrounded, and for which every good citizen should strive. Citizens in large force turned out to meet them, and time only prevents what we would like for our people to know more of, viz.: the good that is being accomplished by the Good Templars of this State and land.

Hearty thanks came from the two speakers (representing the whole party of forty odd) for the kind reception given them.

FORSYTHE COUNTY.

WINSTON, August 10.—The weather became remarkably cool last Friday night during the rain, and it is now clear and so cool as to bring blankets into demand. There was, for the first time in months, no sale in any of the warehouses last Saturday on account of the condition of the road.

Good order among the reckless seems to prevail, which is due perhaps to the efficiency of our present police and active mayor.

Inferior court convened to-day at 10 o'clock, but no cases of importance have been reached yet. The court room seems to be well patronized by the colored people, who will doubtless be well represented on the "docket."

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars will hold their annual meeting here to-morrow (Tuesday), and a grand time is anticipated. Sixty delegates will arrive to-night. Mr. J. A. Robeson, the wide-awake editor of the Winston Leader, will deliver the address of welcome, which will be responded to by one of the visitors. Able addresses by eminent members will be delivered during the week, and a big time generally is expected.

The verdant rustic, who called at Thompson's drug store to buy bacon some weeks ago, was in town again last week. He called at the Central Hotel to buy a pair of shoes, and at the male academy (the academy building is situated in a square bounded by streets on all sides) he tried to sell beef and roasting ears to the principal and students. Four students have a rope across the gymnastic fixtures for him on his next trip, which will be his last.

Alleged Forger.

Robesonian.

H. W. Ashley, a school teacher of the colored persuasion, was arrested on Wednesday of last week at his school house in the Leesville country, where he was engaged in teaching about forty ideas how to shoot, and was brought to this town charged with forging the names of a school committee to a draft for about $23. He was ordered to jail in default of a justified bond in the sum of $200 to await an investigation on the following Friday, when he moved an examination and gave bond for his appearance at the next term of the Superior Court. It is supposed the order was paid last March, but the forgery was not detected till recently, when Treasurer Floyd, while examining his vouchers noticed the discrepancy between the signature on that and the other voucher, Ashley having formerly taught a school in the same neighborhood and had a draft for $45, signed by the same man. As Ashley has heretofore borne a splendid reputation, we will forbear to speak of this case as its merits deserve. But this much is certain, Messrs. J. D. Rogers and C. Harrington, the gentlemen whose names appear on the draft, say they did not sign it. As there has been no investigation, the facts remain in the impervious minds of Ashley and his counsel. Some say that he taught the school and was entitled to the amount of the order, while others are in doubt.

The Goddess on the Standard Dollar.

The Philadelphia (Pa.) Record publishes an article detailing the incident connected with procuring a model for the goddess on the Bland dollar, which is intended to represent the typical American female face. The young lady who is thus honored is a Miss Anna W. Williams, of No. 1023 Spring Garden street, Philadelphia, a school teacher in the House of Refuge of this city. Miss Williams' modesty has never allowed her to divulge the fact that the design is a prototype of her features. The engraver, Morgan, who was brought from England to design the dollar, visited the Academy of Fine Arts and Woman's School of Design, in search of a fine American face, but failed to there find any model which accorded with his ideas. By accident he noticed the contour of Miss Williams', who, he said, "had the most perfect profile he had ever seen."

KENNEKEET'S WONDER.

THE SKELETON OF AN ANCIENT WHALE UNEARTHED.

Another Addition to the Curiosities found in the Neighborhood--Shaded by a Large Forest

Elizabeth City Falcon Extra.

We have received authentic information that at that portion of our seacoast known as Little Kennekeet, a valuable historic relic in the form of the complete skeleton of a whale, sixty feet long, has been found, well preserved. The peculiarity of the affair is that the skeleton was found imbedded in a sand-hill which has been covered with an extensive forest from "time, whereof the memory of a man runneth not to the contrary." The sand of this hill being recently changed by storms during the past two years, was gradually removed from the place where the remains of this ancient monster of the deep must have been reposing for hundreds, yes, thousands of years. Another circumstance, besides the fact that large trees of slow growth are is that the hill in which it was found is on the Sound side of the beach, showing conclusively that the entire coast must have been deeply submerged at the time when this specimen of our greatest sea mammals was driven from his ocean home and left on the coast by the receding waters. What great flood could this have been? Verily has a pre-historic relic been found.

DIRECTLY OVER THE SKELETON,

About a year since we were shown by Lieutenant Walton, Superintendent Life Saving Stations, found on Bodie's Island, near Nags Head. This tooth was eight-pointed, of a bluish color and weighed probably eight pounds. It was fully eight inches long, from four to five deep and about three in thickness. Shortly afterward the same gentleman showed us the skull of what he supposed to be a walrus, found near Kitty Hawk. Both of these specimens were sent by the Lieutenant to Professor Marsh of Yale.

THE MOLAR OF A MASTODON

It is much to be regretted that the intelligent people of North Carolina do not turn their attention to the establishment of a State museum for the preservation of these valuable specimens which are probably more varied and abundant in this State than in any other section of America, instead of allowing them to go to enrich the museums of other States. A sense of State pride if nothing else should suggest some such course.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

Shot in the Back from an Ambuscade --Supposed Ending of an old Feud.

Hillsville Virginian.

Our usually quiet town was startled on last Monday evening by the information that Mr. Joshua Nester, an aged and respected citizen of this county, living about nine miles from Hillsville, had been shot and killed, from ambush, by an unknown party. The facts, as well as we can learn, are about as follows: Mr. Nester and his wife were binding oats upon a hillside a mile from their home. Mrs. Nester says that about 12 o'clock m., she heard the report of a gun, and on turning, saw her husband rolling down the hill. She caught him, saw that he was dying, and became so frightened that she ran to a neighbor's for help. When she returned he was dead.

A coroner's inquest was held over the body on Tuesday, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts—that "he came to his death from a gun shot wound, inflicted by a person unknown to the jury."

The ball entered the back and lodged under the breast bone, near the neck, producing almost instant death. The assassin was tracked a considerable distance to and from the place from which he fired. A rest for his gun was also found placed against a tree. The distance between the murderer and his victim was about fifty yards.

This is the most atrocious crime that has been committed in Carroll county, and no effort, however great, should be spared in bringing the perpetrator to justice.

Sir Garnet Wolseley and General Robert E. Lee.

The following is an extract from the last letter of "Mont," the Paris correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer:

At this moment the eyes of Europe are turned toward the great army commander in Zululand. During "our little war" this officer was a guest with General Robert E. Lee. I knew him then. I have met him since. The last time I met him I asked him where his headquarters would be in South Africa. "Not in the saddle," he replied, with a smile, and the suggestive quotation revived our recollections of persons and events in the past that gave us much mirth of criticism. We talked over the campaigning in the South, and Sir Garnet said: "Do you know that the armies of Europe have learned some great lessons from General Lee? I think he was the greatest general of his age; yes, perhaps of any age; and my own opinion is that the North, though not very proud of him now, will soon come to look upon General Lee with as much pride as the people of the South, and both be glorified of the great American general, from whom much of modern strategy has grown into rules of war." I note this as coming from the first soldier of Great Britain, if not of Europe, and at some future day I may add further remarks on the generals who were opposed to General Robert E. Lee, and whose military abilities European officers have carefully noted.

The Laziest Man in the United States

Augusta Standard.

The laziest man in the United States is a ship-carpenter in Belfast, Maine, who has determined to spend the rest of his days in a comfortable chair. When wages were reduced he declined to work any longer, and seated himself in a rocking chair near his sitting-room window. There he remains all day long, only rising to go to his meals or to bed. His chair rockers have worn grooves in the floor, and on the windowsill, where he drums idly as he rocks to and fro, are the imprints of his fingers. He has a wife, and the couple are supposed to have some savings on which they live.

What Might Have Changed Sacred History.

Chicago Tribune.

S'pose, now, that the little children of Bethel, when they saw the prophet Elisha passing by, had known how to convey a disagreeable fact as neatly as members of the American Paragraphers' Association, and had remarked, "Mister, you have a very ample part to your hair," would any she-bears have come out of the wood, and if so, how many children would they have torn, or otherwise?"

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

THURSDAY, - - - AUGUST 14, 1879

ANOTHER spasmodic movement for colonizing northern Georgia has been made.

THE New York Tribune is paying court to the Greenback element. Does Foster need this help?

THE Atlanta Republican says "a score of Republican speakers of ability can recapture the State (Georgia)." Whereupon the Rome Courier remark: "It is a little funny how these Republicans cling to that idea of 'capturing' things. Ever since 'captured and abandoned property' panned out so well the word has had a charm for them."

THE Stewart body case is before the police once more. Some parties in Montreal claim to be able to produce it, and will do so for $250,000. The statement is too late, as it is conceded by all except the police that the body was recovered last winter. It is probably a police dodge to remove the stigma of inefficiency attaching to that body.

RIGHT on the head of Governor St. John's statement that New York had not contributed $16 for the relief of the exodus sufferers, comes the statement from Mr. William E. Gross, secretary of the New York association to aid Southern sufferers, that over $1,000 have been sent to St. Louis and Kansas for their benefit. What has become of this money?

THE next Presidential campaign will have one important feature—it will virtually express the people's verdict upon the questions at issue between the leading political parties. For behind our government, behind our politicians, behind all the legislative machinery, rings, and petty partizan organizations, is the real ruler and director of our government—the sovereign people. Every official will be brought before the inquisition of the people's tribunal, and all proved unworthy will be ignominiously sent home to tend their farms and their own business.

IT may not be generally known among those who are holders of the $10 postal certificates, that they are redeemed only at the Treasury at Washington, D. C., where the holder can have them converted into 4 per cent. bonds. As no other way of redemption is provided for these certificates, and as no interest is paid on them except by conversion, it is evident that they cannot be beneficial to the poorer classes, especially when it is considered that no one person could buy more than $100 worth, and in order to realize upon the principal or to collect interest thereon, he must tramp to Washington.

THE Washington Post remarks that Governor St. John's complaint that only one of the representative men of the Republican party has given a dime to aid the miserable negro refugees in Kansas, is a scathing rebuke to those Radicals whose speeches have added strength to the exodus. "Even Mr. Windom, the father of the exodus, has given nothing but eloquence and tears and, possibly, a few prayers." But then the Post should remember that even the charitably inclined fail to recognize the claims of a swindling concern. Father Windom will not invest much in the Conway enterprise.

THURLOW WEED'S latest political contribution is an interesting reminiscence of the great Senatorial fight between Greeley and Evarts in 1860. The contest was very exciting. Mr. Weed was afraid that if Horace Greely was elected to the United States Senate at such a critical period it would have the effect to irritate and stir up the South and divide the North at the same time. Mr. Greeley's one great aim was to abolish slavery first and take the consequences afterwards. But the friends of Mr. Evarts took the ground that if there was going to be a war the question of slavery would take care of itself, as in fact it did. Finally Hon. Ira Harris was elected as a compromise candidate.

THE new interest law in New York, limiting the rate of interest on borrowed money to 6 per cent, is not acceptable to the banks, and it is said the national banks do not regard themselves as bound by it. If they shall resist it and carry the question to the courts, they will probably find that the law is applicable to them as well as to State banks and individuals. The national banking law authorizes them to "charge interest at the rate allowed by the laws of the State, Territory or District where the bank is located, and no more;" and although the State of New York has reduced its legal rate from 7 to 6 per cent since the national banks were organized, they cannot claim the right to still demand the higher rate. They must change their rates with the laws of the State.

GENERAL TOM EWING has never yet explained why he left the Republican party, which was the party of the Union, and joined the Democratic Confederate Brigadiers, who involved our country in the great Rebellion, forced the creation of the present national debt, and endeavored to destroy our Government. It simply shows that he is a soldier of fortune and not of principle, and that he joined the Confederates because he could better himself politically.—Cleveland Leader (Rep.)

"Which was the party of the Union" is very good, as the Radicals cannot claim it as the party of the Union at present, and that is the reason probably that the General left it. And as for bettering himself politically, the only show for political honors given by that party is possessed by those who remained at home during the war and peddled pins and tape. A war record isn't worth a Continental in the Radical prize catalogue.

A FEATURE of the forthcoming report of the Commissioner of Agriculture is a chapter on the rates of wages on farms. Throughout the country, with the exception of a few remote western States and Territories, the average monthly rate of pay for farm laborers declined, during the year ending last April, from 3 to 15 per cent. At the same time, the expense of living in the majority of States declined in equal or greater proportion. It appears that the New England farm laborers receive, when working on yearly engagements, without board, $21.31 cents per month on the average, a decline of 10 per cent. since the beginning of the year. The cost of living has fallen 13 per cent. In the cotton States (and a comparison here becomes interesting) laborers average $14.80 per month, and, generally, the negro laborer is housed free, and is allowed to cut what firewood he requires. The statement that has frequently made that the colored laborers of the cotton States were nearly as well paid as the Northern agriculturalists is borne out by the Commissioner's report.

THE way that large estates, under the workings of the present laws, are divided among the lawyers, has aroused public attention. The subject has been studied in its length and breadth, and and it is earnestly to be hoped that some means will be devised to protect the natural heirs in their rights. As it now stands, the subjoined burlesque from the New York World contains far more truth than is really necessary:

Scene in a restaurant near the court-house—Four gents at bar and four glasses on bar. Gent in drab—"I'll pay for these, counsellor." Counsellor—"Oh, no, I'll pay." Gent in drab—"But I insist." Counsellor—"My dear boy, it comes out of the estate, so it's all right. Gent in drab—"Pity that the dead man has to pay for the drinks, but can't get one." Ha! ha! ha! [They drink, and the estate, per counsellor, pays.]

HOW IT WILL END.

When the news of the negro exodus reached the North the movement was universally decried as entailing suffering on the colored race. The New York Tribune was especially loud in its denunciations of the "contemptible swindler who had aroused the negroes by the old story under a new form of forty acres and a mule." But this was before it was discovered that the movement could be made available as a campaign war cry. As soon as this astonishing discovery was made it was used to the fullest extent, and what is the consequence? Some thousands of negroes left their old homes and started for Kansas. They were landed at this or that stopping place according to the amount of money they had for fares. They would have starved had it not been for municipal help supplemented by charitable contributions. Those that reached Wyandotte city, Kansas, laid there for days suffering for the necessaries of life. The citizens of that place generously contributed to alleviate the distress, but the number was too great to be supported by a population that was not in anywise wealthy. Those that wished to return were provided with transportation, and many availed themselves of the opportunity. Those that have remained will have a hard winter to face; the sufferings they have undergone will be but as a flea-bite to those they will have to encounter when the cold sets in; and were these emigrants ever so well-stocked it would be more than a year yet before they could be classed as self-supporting. Contributions directed to the care of the Conway class stand but little chance of being applied to their intended use, and the general government will undoubtedly have to assume charge of these unfortunates.

The causes of the exodus have been variously accounted for; but we think the real reason of the movement is that unscrupulous politicians entered into a combined movement of this nature for speculative purposes. The Freedman's Bank had gone down, and there appeared to be money in this new scheme. They flooded the plantations with circulars," not to be shown to any white man," containing glowing descriptions of Kansas, accompanied by a chromo illustrating a colored man's paradise in that heaven-favored State. The negroes were told that the ex-slave-holders would soon get in power, and they would again be enslaved, that they were being plundered by the whites in such a manner that they would never be able to save any property. So that the resulting cause of the exodus was the negro's uneasiness regarding his deprivation of political rights, and a natural apprehensions of a relapse into some form of serfdom. If the negro felt that his citizenship could be properly protected in the South, and his freedom from extortions insured by a direction of public sentiment against plundering traders and greedy planters, there would be a final end of all talk about another exodus. The abolition of the credit system in the South, and the universal adoption of the wage system, as practiced on the sugar plantations, would do much to render the negro a contented man.

But the planters do not propose to be left at the mercy of these scoundrelly mock philanthropists, and run the chance of losing a season's crops by movements of this sort. It is announced that experiment, with Chinese labor in the South will soon be made on a scale which will prove whether this class of help can be advantageously employed or not. It is stated that arrangements have been perfected by which any desired number of the Celestials can be furnished the planters by the middle of September. They will contract to work from twelve to fifteen months at $12 a month and a pound and a half of rice per day, with fifty cents per week in lieu of other rations, wages being payable at the end of each month in current funds. The laborers under this contract are to work twenty-six days in each month, and all lost time is to be deducted. The cost of transportation on the Mississippi south of Memphis will be $45 per head, to be advanced by the planter, and deducted from the wages of laborers at the rate of $5 a month.

Political Notes.

There is a feeling that, if a dark horse should appear in the Presidential race, and proye to be Hayes by name, it would find really stout and sturdy backers in Massachusetts. There is today, here in Boston at least, among the best class of Republicans, a stronger feeling of respect, amounting almost to admiration, for Hayes than at any time during his administration. He grows in strength.—Frank Sanborn.

The gubernatorial canvass in Massachusetts will be rendered livelier by the withdrawal of Governor Talbot from politics, and it will be interesting even if the rumor than he has declined a re-election should prove unfounded. Various Republicans are spoken of to fill his place, and is ample evidence that several gentlemen of the party are perfectly willing to accept a nomination.

Some people with more money than sense are taking of starting a Grant organ in Washington. General Grant is the last man to need an organ and Washington the last place to run one in. That city is a cemetery of dead newspapers started to serve factions or individual politicians.—Tribune.

Congressman William Sayler thinks Tilden will be the nominee. The Western Democrats are falling into the Tilden ranks like recruits before the drill-master's stick.

There ought to be a Constitutional Amendment providing for placing States which will not pay their debts in the hands of a receiver.

Judge Abbott again remarks that the Widow Butler is an improper person.

There is Hope.

Boston Herald.

When white men get to bulldozing white men in the South, there is hope. It is no longer a question between white men and black men, or between Democrats and Republicans, but between progressive and reactionary elements, between those who understand what popular government is and those who believe in the shot-gun as a means of deciding political issues. It is very fortunate that Captain Dixon, the bulldozed candidate for sheriff in Yazoo county, is not only a white man, but a native southerner and a staunch Democrat. This at once makes an issue off the color line. It calls upon all friends of order to rally about Dixon against the advocates of violence. The negroes will naturally go with the party which defends human rights, because their rights especially need defending. With this issue on one side and the exodus on the other we expect to see progress in the South. The owners of property will be on the side of freedom—the unquestioned exercise of human rights—just as soon as they find that, unless that side prevail, their property will disappear. Some people think that nothing can be done without federal bayonets, but they lack faith. Natural laws are stronger and better, surer and more efficient, than those made by Congress, and they cannot be repealed.

A Consistent Record.

Washington Post.

Some of the Ohio Republican papers are sneering at the notion of ex-Confederates on the Democratic National committee "providing the campaign literature that is to win the boys in blue over to the Democratic side." The campaign literature which these gentleman have prepared for the boys in blue, is this consistent record of liberality and justice toward the Union soldiers. As members of Congress these ex-Confederates have uniformly voted for every honest measure intended to benefit the men who were formally opposed to them in the field. Such a record as this is ten thousand times more effective than loud and hollow professions of sympathy and kindness.

Not Room in History.

Washington Post.

If Hickenlooper accomplished ten per cent. of what is claimed in his behalf during his term of service in the army, it is time to inquire what the rest of the Union army was doing and why the war wasn't ended in six weeks? We are by no means inclined to disparage Hickenlooper, although we have not seen the graveyards where his heaps of slain were buried, but there isn't room in history for the achievements credited to him without erasing the accepted records of many other officers of higher rank.

Grent East African Railway.

South African Times.

In reply to a communication made by Mr. James Bradshaw, of Manchester, to the Sultan of Zanzibar, on the question of opening out Central Africa via the Zanzibar territory, his Highness has expressed himself very willing and desirous to assist the scheme, and will grant a concession of land for the proposed railway, and to the best of his ability forward the objects in view. His Highness is of opinion that the railway would develop an extensive trade with the interior.

Placed His Hand on His Backbone

Philadelphia Times.

As the government clerks had contributed some fifteen or twenty thousand dollars to the Ohio campaign fund, they naturally supposed they would be allowed to follow up the good work by reorganizing the State associations at Washington. The President, however, saved the civil service reform business from absolute ruin by placing his hand on his backbone and announcing that his conscience objected to any more politics under this administration. This is the golden era of reform.

Recovering.

Norfolk Virginian.

Humphrey Williams, the negro thief who fell from the roof of a three-story house on Market square about a week ago and struck on his head in an alley some fifty feet below, an account of which has already been published, is, we learn, recovering from the effects of the fall. Now, truly, he has a head that any darkey might envy, and recuperative powers scarcely less remarkable than the hardness of his cranium.

The Difference.

Washington Post.

The Radical demagogue contents himself with talking in favor of great things for the men who fought under the old flag! The "Confederate brigadier" quietly votes for the Union soldiers' interests every time, and secures for him advantages that succeSSive Radical Congress s have denied him. That's the difference.

Begun to Unwind.

Philadelphia Times.

Senator Blaine believes he has discovered that Secretary Sherman didn't enthuse Maine in the right way when he went up there to inspect the lighthouses and things. Senator Blaine has, therefore, begun to unwind the campaign at exactly the point where Secretary Sherman left it wound up.

May Expect to Hear of It.

Philadelphia Times.

If Ex-Governor Tilden keeps stirring things up as he is now doing with the deliberate purpose of getting into the White House after all, he may confidently expect to hear from that income tax suit again pretty soon. That case is kept on hand for these emergencies.

LIVER PILLS

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

ACUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The wrapper of McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

FOR

Chills, Shakes, FEVER AND AGUE.

TARBORO, N. C., 1878.

DR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir,—I feel very grateful for what your valuable medicine, Vegetine, has done in my family. I wish to express my thanks by informing you of the wonderful cure of my son; also, to let you know that Vegetine is the best medicine I ever saw for Chills, Shakes, Fever and Ague. My son was sick with measles in 1873, which left him with Hip-joint disease. My son suffered a great deal of pain, all of the time; the pain was so great he did nothing but cry. The doctors did not help him a particle, he could not lift his foot from the floor, he could not move without crutches. I read your advertisement in the "Louisville Courier-Journal," that Vegetine was a great Blood Purifier and Blood Food. I tried one bottle, which was a great benefit. He kept on with the medicine, gradually gaining. He has taken eighteen bottles in all and he is completely restored to health, walks without crutches or cane. He is twenty years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age, who is subject to chills. Whenever he feels one coming on, he comes in, takes a dose of Vegetine and that is the last of the Chill. Vegetine leaves no bad effect upon the system like most of the medicines recommended for Chills. I cheerfully recommend Vegetine for such complaints. I think it is the greatest medicine in the world.

Respectfully, MRS. J. W. LLOYD.

VEGETINE.—When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the VEGETINE will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

VEGETINE

Druggists' Testimony.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

DEAR SIR,—We have been selling your remedy, the Vegetine, for about three years, and take pleasure in recommending it to our customers, and in no instance where a blood purifier would reach the case, has it ever failed to effect a cure, to our knowledge. It certainly is the ne plus ultra of renovators.

A SPECIALTY.

Repairing Promptly and Carefully Done.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester.

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as harged for water or horse-power.

Lithia Water.

THE BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS,

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

THE GREAT TONIC AND ALTERATIVE WATERS OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT.

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRING NO. 3.

The most Valuable and Powerful Tonic Waters of Virginia, and, with one exception, the most Valuable Tonic Water of the United States.

☞ ANALYSIS of this Spring, made by Prof. Wm. P. Tonry, of the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, March 17, 1877: Results expressed in grains per imperial gallon, shows it to contain 3,774 grains of the Carbonate of Iron, which is recognized by all medical men as in comparably the most potent and valuable form in which iron can be used as a Tonic. A comparison of this analysis with that of other chalybeate waters of the American Continent shows that the Buffalo Lithia Spring No. 3 contains a larger percentage of CARBONATE OF IRON than any other Mineral Water in Virginia, and, with one exception, a larger percentage than any other Mineral Water in the United States. Between this water and chalybeate waters generally there is one important difference. Chalybeate waters, as a general rule, are ASTRINGENT. The water of Spring No. 3 is APERIENT—rendered so by the Carbonate of Potash.

With this powerful BLOOD TONIC, in conjunction with the famous Buffalo Lithia Springs No. 2 (which contains a larger percentage of the Bi-carbonate of Lithia than any known Mineral Water,) one of the most powerful alterative waters of the world, and to which is attributed by many eminent medical men a peculiar power as "a Nerve Tonic," it would seem to be a self-evident proposition that these Springs offer inducements to those in search of health, found nowhere else upon the American Continent.

Under the Guns.

Under the guns of the fort on the hill
Daisies are blossoming, buttercups fill;
Up the gray ramparts the scaling vine clings
High its green ladders, and falters and clings
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of the fort on the hill.

Under the guns of the fort on the hill
Once shook the earth with the cannonade's thrill,
Once trod these buttercups feet that, now still,
Lie all at rest in their trench by the mill.
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of the fort on the hill.

Under the guns of the fort on the hill
Equal the rain falls on good and ill.
Soft lies the sunshine—still the brook runs,
Still toils the husbandman—under the guns.
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of the fort on the hill.

Under the guns of Thy fort on the hill,
Lord! in Thy mercy we wait on Thy will;
Lord, is it war that Thy wisdom best knows,
Lord, is it peace that Thy goodness still shows
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of Thy fort on the hill.

Poetry of the Plague.

Memphis Appeal.

We regret the necessity of consigning to the waste-basket a "pome" received at a late hour last night. The Appeal's half sheet condition is the only excuse. But what is lost to the literary lore of the passing century becomes the gain of the waste-basket ocean. Upon reflection we will perpetuate one stanza, which is a fair specimen of its six companions:

Our streets are full of ghostlike figures
With blanched cheeks and bended head;
And if it were not for their hurried movements
You would think they were already dead.

The author's too fertile imagination grasps the idea of a city full of animated corpses walking around to save funeral expenses.

Chinamen Flying from California.

California Advertiser.

Four Chinamen have committed suicide in as many weeks past. This is a new departure for John to take, and it looks very much as if he preferred hell to California under the new constitution.

The sympathy extended by the press of St. Louis to Chicago since the yellow fever reached the lake metropolis gives one a new idea of the innate nobleness and generosity of the human heart. Listen to this from the St. Louis Times:

Our hearts, our souls go out to thee,
O, cheeky village by the lake,
Since yellow fever's made a break
For thy small limits corporate!
Yet, pitting hope against thy fate,
We waft thee precious sympathy.

O mortgaged village of the lake,
We pine to see thee wasting so—
We mourn this devastating woe
That, like a judgment from on high,
Hath sorely smote thee hip and thigh
And set thy mortgages at stake!

No Good Preaching.

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters. See other column.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime by the Cuticura Remedies, are more wonderful than any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

Cuticura Resolvent, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged. Cuticura, The Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growth which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

Salt Rheum for 30 Years

On the Head, Face, and Greater Parts of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen, I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of Cuticura. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly,
B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The Cuticura Soap should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing Results from the use of Cuticura.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your Cuticura remedies The county had employed all of our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the Cuticura and immediately began getting better. He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during this time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not think he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least.

Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this Cuticura will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one half times the quantity of small, $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

TUTT'S PILLS

SYMPTOMS OF A
TORPID LIVER.

Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Pain in the Head, with a dull sensation in the back part, Pain under the shoulder-blade, Fullness after eating, with a disinclination to exertion of body or mind, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, with a feeling of having neglected some duty, Weariness, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, Yellow Skin, Headache generally over the right eye, Restlessness with fitful dreams, highly colored Urine.

IF THESE WARNINGS ARE UNHEEDED, SERIOUS DISEASES WILL SOON BE DEVELOPED.

TUTT'S PILLS are especially adapted to such cases, one dose effects such a change of feeling as to astonish the sufferer.

CONSTIPATION.

Only with regularity of the bowels can perfect health be enjoyed. If the constipation is of recent date, a single dose of TUTT'S PILLS will suffice, but if it has become habitual, one pill should be taken every night, gradually lessening the frequency of the dose, until a regular daily movement is obtained, which will soon follow.

Dr. I. Guy Lewis, Fulton, Ark., says:
"After a practice of 25 years, I pronounce TUTT'S PILLS the best anti-bilious medicine ever made."

Rev. F. R. Gascoigne, [illegible], says:
"I have had Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had any medicine to do me so much good as TUTT'S PILLS. They are as good as represented."

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——At the Fair Grounds.

——Two trotting races at the Fair Grounds to-day.

——Two running races on the track at the Fair Grounds this afternoon.

——B. F. Pescud, Sr., left the city for a western tour yesterday.

——No old bonds received at the Treasury yesterday.

——Nothing of importance at the Probate court yesterday.

——John Pullen, Esq., left yesterday for Warm Springs.

——Revenue receipts yesterday were $1,307.58.

——The market was well supplied yesterday with edibles.

——Street venders are quite plentiful around the Courthouse.

——The city was full of strangers yesterday.

——Several new foot bridges have been built on McDowell street. They were sadly needed.

——More complaint arises concerning the manner in which the market house is kept.

——Foot racing will constitute an important feature in to-day's doings at the Fair Grounds.

——The telephonic wires have nearly all been stretched. They will be ready for business ere long.

——The pedestrian matches at the Fair Grounds this afternoon will create considerable sport.

——Drummer's license was issued yesterday to Smith N. Brickhouse & Co., of Norfolk, Va.

——The excursion to Warm Springs yesterday, carried eleven coaches all of which were full.

——Justice Barbee had not a single case yesterday. What will happen next?

——Mr. Claude B. Barbee took the western train yesterday for a trip to the mountains.

——Mr. John King has finished his work on the Government building and is now in Asheville on a short visit.

——Arthur E. Stillwell, the Bay Line time table advertiser, was in the city yesterday.

——Persons visiting the Fair Grounds to-day can procure dinner on the grounds. There will be a restaurant there.

——Acting Mayor Lumsden had two cases of drunk and down yesterday morning. Twelve hours loating in the guard-house.

——Professor Fairchild is on a northern trip for the purpose of purchasing the necessary articles with which to beautify Nash square.

——The residence of Charles D. Upchurch, Esq., on Fayetteville street, is rapidly approaching progressing. It will be a handsome structure.

——Paschal Pearson is eighty-nine years old, yet he is as sprightly and spry as a boy of fifteen. He lives in Louisburg.

——The excursion to the mountains yesterday was a complete success. The train was filled to its utmost capacity; about three hundred passengers were on the road.

——Mr. Charles C. McDonald, the clever young gentleman that presides over the stamp exchange in the post office, has gone west for pleasure and health in the mountains and round about.

——The races conducted by the Raleigh Jockey Club take place at the Fair Grounds, to-day at 1,30 p. m. Ample preparations has been made for its success, and it will no doubt be an enjoyable affair.

——The eastern end of Newbern avenue, poetically designated as "Hungry Neck, needs the attention of the city authorities. The refuse, etc., thrown into back alleys, and the stagnant pools in its vicinity is well calculated to infest the community with some malignant disease.

——The New Berne Nut S ell of the 13th has the following: "There were about one hundred excursionists for Beaufort yesterday. The excursion rates are very liberal on the part of the railroads, and great numbers are induced to leave home. Among the passengers for the sea-coast were General Bas.l C. Manly and family."

——"When the band commenced to play" Tuesday evening it was apparent to all that a distinguished person had arrived in town. Mr. John E. Duke, of the National, has made his appearance, and the wonderful tales he tells of shooting elephants, Indians, manatees and seals while at Old Point Comfort are really entertaining to hear. He does his best though when coaxining himself to the corn crop of Franklin. However, he is a good fellow—that is, as good as a hotel clerk will allow him to be.

Supreme Court.

Court opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. All the Justices present,

The consideration of appeals at the end of the docket was resumed, and causes were disposed of as follows:

S W Isler vs. Elien Koonce et als, from Jones; argued by W H Bailey for the defendants; no counsel for the plaintiff.

Chas H Brown vs. Kinsey, from Jones; argued by Faircloth & Simmons for the plaintiff, and H R Kornegay for the defendant.

Court adjourned until 10 o'clock a. m. to-day (Thursday.)

A Second Edition.

"Tourgee's Code with Notes and Decisions" has received the endorsement of a great many of the leading lawyers of the State, as an indispensable aid to North Carolina practice. A new edition of the work is now ready. It contains all amendments of the code made by the Legislature of 1879 and all cases construing the code in the 78th 79th and 80th N. C. Reports. Price, by mail, post paid, $6.50. Alfred Williams & Co. publishers, Raleigh.

To Notaries Public.

There is a tax of twenty-five cents levied by the State, and the same amount levied by Wake county, on the seal or scroll of a notary public. These officers will collect fifty cents every time they use their seal or make a scroll, and pay twenty-five cents each to the sheriff and the county treasurer. Five per cent. commissions can be retained by notaries. The law requires scrupulous exactness in keeping an account or the number of times, the seal or scroll may be used in paying over. Failure to comply with the law makes one liable to indictment.

Indigestible.

While workmen were removing a large number of unbound volumes o Supreme Court decisions from the shelving in the back part of the office, they came across the skeleton of a rat, who had given up the ghost in that legal atmosphere. It is surmised that he was busily endeavoring to digest some of the cases, and that the matter proved indigestible. Another victim of the law.

The Races.

The Jockey Club, under whose auspices the races at the Fair Grounds take place to-day, have been peculiarly fortunate in securing entries for today's sport. At last accounts eighteen entries are recorded, viz.:

Mr. Fuller, of Johnston, 2 trotters and 1 runner.

Mr. Bennett, of Greensboro, 3 trotters and 1 runner.

Mr. Lassiter, of New Berne 1 trotter.

Mr. Montague, of Granville, 2 runners.

A gentleman from Durham, 1 trotter.

Dr. McKee, Raleigh, 1 trotter and 1 runner.

Mr. Lyon, 1 trotter.

Mr, R. Jones, 1 trotter.

There are three others whose names the reporter did not learn.

The pedestrian matches will come off, as several of our youths are desirous of emulating O'Leary.

Death Rate.

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known. d&wtf.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $50 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3½ per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75, in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,177.-24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,210.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty days. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. The new explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Just Your Time

to make money safely, easily and rapidly, is now, while the stock market offers so many splendid opportunities. The combination system has had unprecedented success, and brings good fortune to thousands of shareholders in this and other countries. Investments of from $25 to $10,000 are thus consolidated into one vast capital, and operated by the best skill and experience, result in heavy profits, which are divided among shareholders every month. A New Orleans cotton dealer made $27,-649.18 in two months. A Baltimore merchant received an aggregate profit of $9,642.04 from three combinations. A San Francisco mining agent made $22,438.16 from four combinations, his first investment having been $100. Others have been equally fortunate. Every day there are new and grand opportunities. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Wicked for Clergymen.

"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonials to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorious article made of valuable remedies known to all, that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely commend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them."

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for Liquor, which had so prostrated him that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady, and he has remained a sober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups; I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. Official, Chicago, Ills.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skilful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enable those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $433.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3,000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four combinations; and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success" mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City. *

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879. —The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, ESQ., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,

WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.

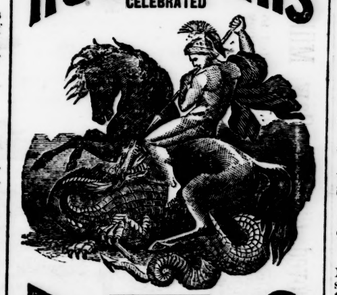
HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED



STOMACH
BITTERS

It is passive suicide to permit the health to be taken undermined, the constitution broken, and the lease of life shortened, by nervous complaints, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, headache, or intermittent and remittent fevers, when it is a fact established by unquestioned evidences that the Bitters will prevent and remove these evils. All the symptoms of lassitude and general debility speedily vanish when this invigorant is given a trial.

For sale by Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.
